The Dragon Productions Theatre continues to thrive since its move from Palo Alto to Redwood City in 2012.

The house that Meredith Hagedorn and company has built offers a good range of theater and innovative ways of using its black box theater that seats slightly more than 70 people. It's become part of what has become the most concentrated and busiest area for theater, music and dining scene on the Peninsula, downtown Redwood City.

With Fox Theatre, Club Fox, the Cinemark theaters, city funded arts events on the old courthouse mall and dozens of restaurants and clubs, the competition in the area is now for parking. Go early, for anything.

The Dragon is currently offering "The Voice of the Prairie," by John Olive, directed by Hagedorn, through Sept. 13. Still to come in 2015 are Dragonfest 15 on Sept. 19 at La Honda Winery, a fundraiser, and "Or," by Liz Duffy Adams and directed by Vera Sloan, Oct. 2-25; and "Sunlight," by Sharr White and directed by Brian P. Luce, Nov. 20-Dec. 13.

On Aug. 8, the 2016 season was announced. Planned in the Main Stage Series are "U.S. Drag," by Gina Gionfriddo, directed by Noell GM Gibbs, Feb. 5-28; "When the Rain Stops Falling," by Andrew Bovell, directed by Kimberly Mohne Hill, May 6-29; "Wild Boy," by Oliver Goldstick, directed by Ken Sonkin, July 29-Aug. 21; and

"On the Verge (Or the Geography of Learning)," by Eric Overmyer, directed by Karen Altree Piemme, Oct. 14-Nov. 6.
